

Keeping you safe during your visit at the National Remembrance Gardens

This document is a guide only and should accompany a full risk assessment completed by the school/learning group. We ask that the learning groups risk assessment be presented to staff on arrival along with a full register of participants and staff in case of a fire. A register template can be found at the bottom of this document. All registration documents will be destroyed at the end of your visit.

The management of risk of your group is the group leader's responsibility. Where we have suggested learning group actions below these are recommendations only and a member of staff completing their own risk assessment should think about risks and hazards carefully, considering the needs of their group. To support school and learning group staff in the creation of their own risk assessment, advice can be found via the Health and Safety Executive which can be accessed here: Managing risks and risk assessment at work – Overview -HSE.

*Where guides are referred to below, this is for facilitated visits only. Potential Identified Risk:	How we will keep you safe	Suggestions for the learning group
Persons / Pupils becoming separated from their group and getting lost	The guides will be introduced to staff and pupils and school staff on arrival. The guides will be leading any organised activities with learning groups and will be a point of contact during this period. There are Gardens staff and volunteers situated across the site with radios to communicate to the wider organisation and alert them of any issues or incidents. In the case of an incident where a child is separated from the group all staff and volunteers will follow the lost child procedure. Staff will organise a search across	On arrival ensure that staff are clearly identifiable in case of an emergency. Pupils to be supervised at all times by school staff. Pupils instructed to stay with their designated groups. Wear Hi-Vis vests where possible or wristbands with the schools contact details on. Pupils instructed that in a situation in which do become separated to stay calm and find a member of the Gardens staff and make them aware.
